A handwriting practice grid for the letter 'c'. The grid consists of 12 columns and 2 rows. The top row is for the cursive letter 'c' and the bottom row is for the printed letter 'c'. The first column shows a large cursive 'c' with a red circle around its starting point and a dashed line indicating the stroke direction. The rest of the grid is empty for practice.

なにぬねの

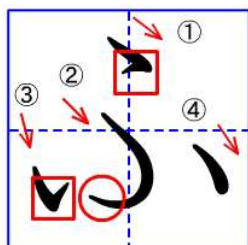

This image shows a standard sheet of graph paper. It features a uniform grid of solid blue lines that intersect to form small squares. A single horizontal dashed blue line is positioned exactly halfway down the page, creating a clear division between the top and bottom sections. The entire sheet is white, and there are no margins or additional markings present.
